QUEIRÓN

Quel, Rioja, Spain

RESPECT TO WINE, CULTURE & SOIL

The Wines of Dominio de Queirón were conceived by the Pérez Cuevas family in their native Quel, which is located in the heart of the Cidacos river valley in the sub-region of Rioja Oriental. The winery strives to produce the absolute best wines possible from their native region. The vineyards are located between the Sierra Yerga and La Hez mountain ranges in the heart of the Barrio de Bodegas de Quel; an emblematic enclave of the 18th century that represents the historical roots of this tiny village in Rioja, with respect to wine, culture and soil. This includes the famed La Pasada vineyard, located at 2600 feet above sea level, some of the highest vineyard land planted in Rioja.

Queirón embodies the philosophy of the Pérez Cuevas family, who has been focused on the world of wine for four generations. Queirón is the culmination of the dream of third generation patriarch Gabriel Pérez, wine-maker and pioneering wine entrepreneur in this area of Rioja Oriental. The project has restored historical areas and vineyards in the surrounding areas of Quel alongside the slopes that define the Sierra de Yerga mountain range. The Queirón winery is one of the most technologically-advanced wineries in Rioja. The terroir bridges a relationship between viticulture and the period of the Middle Ages, as evidenced by the ancient castle of Quel, that overlooks the winery.

Queirón Mi Lugar Tempranillo & Garnacha

Ripe, dark fruit such as blueberries, blackcurrants, blackberries, redcurrant, plums, cherries and figs all appear only to be replaced by a multitude of spicy notes such as incense, coffee and truffle.

90 points, Decanter ('18)

Queirón de Gabriel Reserva

Aromas of spices, coffee, fig, and coconut. It has a very pleasant entry in which it shows its balanced, long and very meaty character. Its tannins are noble and tame.

92 points, James Suckling ('11); 91 points, Vinous ('11)

Queirón Mi Lugar Blanco

Intense aromas that are elegant and complex. Notes of white blossom, fennel, thyme and a strong presence of fruit, such as apricot, peach and plums.

Queirón El Arca

Notes of fruit, such as blackberry, red currant and cassis. Notes of truffle, wild flowers and aromatic plants such as rosemary and thyme appear on the nose.

*Less than 100 bottles allocated for the United States.
