VP Sales: Mountain West, Air, Seas, & Export Markets

Having grown up on a family vineyard in the Coastal Mountains of Santa Cruz, California, Scott Thomassen has worked in the wine industry for over thirty years in roles ranging from vineyard management to warehousing to retail/wholesale sales. During this time, Scott completed his undergraduate and graduate degrees, with emphasis on the international wine industry.

In his mid-twenties, Scott was drawn to South America, living in both Venezuela, then Chile, focusing his studies and experiences specifically on the wines of the Southern Cone. It was that time spent that determined Scott's path in working extensively with this amazing part of the wine world...

Scott now runs sales for the importer VINO del Sol for the Mountain West, Airlines, Cruise-lines, and is the global export sales manager.

Scott lives in Denver with his children.
